

IMAGE ARTICLE

Guide for Identification of Different Types of Hernias

Benatta MahmoudHead of Urology Department, Chu Oran-Oran 1 University, Algeria*

Corresponding author: Benatta Mahmoud, Head of Urology Department, CHU Oran Benzerdjeb, Oran 1 University Ahmed Ben Bella, Algeria, Fax: +213412232

Case Description

A 40-year-old man with left lumbar penetrating trauma 30 days ago.

On the day of trauma, the urgency surgeon repaired multiple ileal injuries, and the patient returned home (Figure 1).

We readmitted the patient because of left lumbar pain and sped up transit.

Ultrasonography showed a retroperitoneal collection.

Urography showed ureteral enteric communication

We performed a left double J.

Transit return to normality and lumbar pain disappeared.

Three months later, we removed Double J removed.

Good evolution.

Figure 1: Post trauma fistulae.